Raymond barely ahead early

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — Valerie Raymond met with success in the valley and held a slight edge in Fremont at midnight in her race with incumbent John Murphy for the first district county supervisors seat.

With 65 per cent of the vote counted, Raymond had 23,038 to Murphy's 22,275.

From all indications she came out on top in Livermore and Pleasanton, and with close to 70 per cent of the south county vote tallied, apparently is holding her own in Murphy's Fremont stronghold.

The race was still wide open, however, with no possible sign of a victor.

In the fifth BART district, incumbent Bob Allen holds a 5,000 vote lead over John McCardle, with 28,677 to 23,326.

In that race, 69 per cent of the votes had been counted.

Measure U, the valley pipeline bond issue, trailed with 61 per cent of the votes counted, 10,565 to 9,349,043. The measure would provide an $8.3 million bond issue to construct a sewer line that would transport treated effluent from the valley to San Francisco Bay.

Measure B, a tax override to provide fire protection for structures in unincorporated territories of the county, failed badly with 88 per cent of the votes counted. No votes totaled 898, to 564 for the yes.

Incumbent Assemblyman Floyd Mori won in the 15th district posting a 3-1 lead over David Funsch with 63 per cent of the votes in. Mori had, 42,662 to Funsch's 13,461.

Pete Stark, incumbent ninth district congressman, defeated Jim Mills, showing a 71,504 to 26,955 lead with 65 per cent of the votes tabulated.

Release of returns was late after County Registrar of Voters Jim Riggs heard from "reliable sources," that San Francisco polls were still open beyond 8 p.m. That delayed first figures by an hour.

According to state law, no results can be released until all polls are closed.

He called Secretary of State March Fong Eu shortly after 9 p.m. and her office discounted the rumors and told him to make public first results.

Voters swamped precincts shortly before the 8 p.m. closing leaving long lines of anxious people.

Stark stormed to a 2-1 lead over Mills with just 11 per cent of the ballots cast in the ninth congressional district.

Mori had Funsch down, 3-1, with only 7 per cent of the votes counted.

In the opening moments, BART director Bob Allen held 57 per cent of the vote, but after 9½ per cent of the precincts counted, the lead slipped 10 percentage points. Allen held 47 per cent to challenger John McCardle's 41 per cent.

Carter leads ballot race by 3 percent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jimmy Carter swept out of the South into close contests in the big, battleground states of the industrial heartland, and held a narrow but steady lead over President Ford as the votes were counted Tuesday night in their race for the White House.

Carter was gaining 51 per cent of the popular vote, and held a three-point lead over Ford, with more than half the nation's precincts tabulated. But in the electoral vote, where it counts, his margin was wider.

Carter had won 17 states, with 170 electoral votes, Ford 10 states with 72 electoral votes. It takes 270 to make a President.

And the outcome hinged on major states, where the race was close and still unsettled at midnight. Those pivotal arenas: Pennsylvania, Michigan and Illinois, where Carter led; Ohio, California and New York, where Ford was ahead.

By the account of his own campaign manager, the appointed President had to carry all save New York if he was to gain the mandate he had sought so long.

Carter led in seven states with 112 electoral votes. Thus he captured or led for 282 electoral votes, a dozen more than it would take to win.

Ford led in 15 states with 177 electoral votes, so there were 249 in his won or leading column.

The popular vote read this way, with 54 per cent of the nation's precincts reporting:

Carter 23,173,796 or 51 per cent.

Ford 21,605,413 or 48 per cent.

Independent Eugene J. McCarthy 333,948 or one per cent.

Democrats quickly captured control of the Senate, a conclusion as foregone as their dominance of the new House.

This was the national picture with 54 per cent of the precincts reporting.

Carter's popular vote was 23,173,796, or 51 per cent. Ford tallied 21,605,413, or 48 per cent.

In the 33 Senate races, Democrats won 16 and led in six. Republicans won six and were ahead in five. Independent Harry Byrd of Virginia was reelected. Forty Democrats and 27 Republicans are holdovers in the Senate, where 51 seats comprise a majority.

In the 435 House races, Democrats won 197 seats and led for 71, while Republicans took 90 races and were ahead in 43. It takes 218 seats to forge a majority in the House, where Democrats now dominate, 290 to 145.

Democrats won in five of the 14 races for governor and led in four others. Republicans captured four races and led in one. The terms of 36 governors, 28 Democrats, seven Republicans and an independent, did not expire this year.

A proposal for council districts

PLEASANTON — There might be more participation in city government if the city council were chosen by districts instead of the present at - large setup, according to John Fraga.

Fraga, an Amador Estates resident, has presented the idea to the CARD Committee, of which he is co - chairperson.

Fraga would divide the city into four quarters and have a council seat in each of them. The fifth council seat would be the mayor's chair and that officer would be selected by vote of the entire city.

Fraga claims that more people would be interested in running for city council and the issues would be aired better at the grass roots if a council member had to canvass only a quarter of the city for ballots.

Pleasanton has 33,000 residents and getting around to all the homes — around 10,000 dwelling units — on foot is too big a chore these days. But one could canvass a quarter of those homes, especially when you consider about half of the residents are registered voters, he said.

Fraga claimed that voters in his neighborhood feel that no one on the city council cares about them. "Mention Philcox or Herlihy in my neighborhood and people don't know who they are," said Fraga. "They say that the people in Birdland (an area of Pleasanton Valley with streets named after birds) don't care about us in Amador Estates."

With costs of campaigning rising as the city grows, the cutback to campaigning in a smaller territory would reduce the cost of getting the voters acquainted with the candidate, said Fraga. This would encourage more people to run, he said.

A Times poll of the five city council members showed no support for Fraga's idea. All agreed that the city is too small for the district idea to work.

"It's an interesting point," said Vice - mayor Joyce LeClaire. "When I began my tenure on the city council, I agreed with that idea. I noticed that three of the council members came from the same neighborhood. We lived three or four blocks from each other.

"Since then I've changed my mind. I see how many issues have city - wide impact. I have come to believe through experience that the current situation is best. We can get a more balanced point of view and be in communication with all parts of the city."

LeClaire feels that people all over town will prefer to call one council member over another because of personality and philosophy. In her case as the only woman on the council, she gets some phone calls from women who say they wouldn't talk to anyone else on the council because only she would know how they feel about whatever is bothering them.

She disagrees with Fraga's assertion that the council doesn't care about people at the neigohborhood level. "I've been involved with issues clear across town. They are more important to me than if they were in my own back yard. When we look at a problem, we try to do it by placing ourselves in their position as a resident there. I think all of us do that."

Mayor Robert Philcox felt the district selection of council members would limit a citizen's choice. "Suppose only one person wants to run from that district. The people there would not have any choice," said Philcox.

"I know it is difficult to get around to all areas at campaign time. And often times we tend to forget some district, I suppose. But I think that people speak loud and clear when they are forgotten. They get our attention."

Philcox would have to give a lot of thought to the notion of elected mayor, but for now it appears the current system is a good one. The council can pick the person its sees best fit to "help them reach one goal."

In district elections, Philcox would "hate to see representatives running on their own little causes or pushed by politically oriented bodies or groups. It happens to some extent, I guess, but I see all kinds of problems with it."

Councilman Ken Mercer said that in the past he has not seen any lack of candidates running for the council. They have been of diverse opinions and abilities and interests, he said. In a big city like San Francisco, with a wide diversity in racial and cultural and economic makeups in the neighborhoods, the district idea might be a good one. But Pleasanton is homogeneous and the problems affect the city equally, said Mercer.

A candidate might save some advertising money with a smaller district, said Councilman William Herlihy, but the bigger concern should be for getting representation for the entire community.

"I like to be concerned about Highland Oaks problems and Pleasanton Meadows problems because I'm concerned about the entire city," said Herlihy. Under the present growth guidelines, it won't be warranted. Maybe if the city had gone to 120,000 as originally stated in the old general plan, it might be a consideration," said Herlihy.

Councilman Frank Brandes observed that the district idea was mentioned a few years ago when the prospect of annexing Dublin came up. If Dublin were annexed, district elections might be the fair way to include Dublin interests in the deliberations of a larger city, said Brandes. But short of that, he doesn't see any need for breaking the city into districts.

"I know that since I've been on the council, I've met with groups of varying interest in practically every sector of town and I feel it gives me greater overall awareness of what's happening in the entire community than if I represented one district."

Nominations for award open

PLEASANTON — Nominations for Community Development Awards are being sought from organizations and individuals who seek to recognize outstanding community contributions during 1976.

The awards, a Pleasanton tradition since 1963, are given in tribute to "esthetic development, individual endeavor, group endeavor and commerce and industry." Nominations for any one of those four categories may be filed with the Chamber of Commerce, 10 Neal St. by Nov. 10.

The awards will be announced and distributed as part of a civic banquet, Jan. 14 at Castlewood Country Club.

Optimism, but no settlement

Murray School District teacher and administration negotiators met with mediator Mike West again last night as a teacher-imposed deadline for taking a strike vote loomed.

Despite another massive outpouring of teachers at Monday's school board meeting, assistant superintendent Heinz Gewing expressed optimism for a contract settlement.

Going into last night's meeting, the major points still to be settled included binding arbitration of grievances and salary. Murray teachers have repeatedly expressed bitterness over what they claim is a "withholding of step and column increases."

The Murray Teachers Association's representative council last week instituted a "crisis calendar" which will remain in vogue until the 7 a.m., Nov. 9 strike vote deadline. Teachers have vowed to continue picketing board and negotiation sessions and organize informational coffee klatches for members of the community.

Those arriving for the board meeting Monday night at Cronin School found the streets surrounding the school jammed with cars, both parking areas full and a teacher - rented searchlight operating in front of the school.

Approximately 175 to 190 district teachers, most carrying placards, walked a picket line around the front of the school, later going into the multi-purpose room where they ringed the seating area.

In addition to Murray Teachers Association president Bob Kroetch and teacher unit officers, the president, vice president and executive director of the California Teachers Association were present, plus two public relations persons. One of the PR people took pictures during presentations by president Steve Edwards and executive director Ralph Flynn.

All urged the board to "listen to the teachers." Kroetch said the theme of the evening was "We hope the board sees the light" —referring to the searchlight in front, which was rented at teacher association expense from a firm in Orinda.

Among those teachers voicing opinions was Vi Egli, a teacher at Murray, who said she initially did not go along with the teacher unit's position but after listening to both sides and giving both considerable thought, felt she could not continue to teach in the Murray district after this year if the board did not give more consideration to teacher problems.

New man on the board tonight

PLEASANTON — Dennis Reidy will be administered the oath of office tonight as a Pleasanton Joint School District board member.

The board convenes for its regular monthly meeting at 7:30 p.m. at the District Educational Center.

The board will hear a report on community services expenditures, discuss the mechanical system at Fairlands School, distribution of additional maintenance funds and act on first reading of a conflict of interest code.

Also on the agenda is action on a Title IV-B projects application.

An executive session will conclude the meeting.

Reidy's seating will bring the board back to full strength. An appointment was necessitated when former trustee Guy Clark resigned for health and personal reasons to move to Albuquerque, N.M.

However, the four remaining trustees had decided to wait until the March of 1977 elections to fill the vacancy. But when trustee Joe Schwab indicated he would be unavailable for six to eight weeks because of illness, trustees decided to appoint a new member right away.

Fifteen applications were received and six persons interviewed at an open meeting. Reidy was the unanimous choice of the trustees.

He will serve the five months remaining on Clark's unexpired term.

Reidy is presently employed as a realtor associate with Century 21 Realty of Fremont.

He was previously employed as regional warehouse manager for Volkswagen of America, Inc., for seven years, assistant manager for Pasha Truckaway, regional parts representative for Volvo Western Distributing, and as a sales rep for Websco Automotive Products.

Reidy attended St. Joseph's High in Mountain View and Bishop O'Dowd High in Oakland, and St.Mary's College. He and his wife, Pat, are long - time residents of the valley.

The Reidys' have four children, Mathew at Amador Valley High, Kevin at Pleasanton School, and Maureen and Timothy at Valley View School.

Halloween candy robbers sought

DUBLIN — Three young children reported their candy stolen by older persons following trick or treat activity Sunday night, the sheriff's office reports.

A 15-year-old girl was walking home after trick or treating about 10:30 Sunday night with two 16-year-old male companions when a girl approached and put a knife to the victim's throat. The suspect demanded her candy, grabbed it and ran off.

All three said they could identify the suspect, and said the weapon was a three-inch switchblade knife.

In two other apparently related incidents, two suspects in a 1964 brown Pontiac drove up to one trick or treater on Bandon near Briarwood, kicked him in the leg and hit him in the chest, grabbed his sack of candy and drove off.

A few minutes later, the same car drove up to a youngster on Brighton and Lucania and struggled with the youth before fleeing with his treats. Both victims gave deputies identical license plate numbers of the suspect vehicle.

An investigation is continuing.

Three youths arrested in mini-bikes theft

DUBLIN — Three Dublin boys were arrested after a deputy spotted two of the youths riding a mini-bike that was found to be stolen.

Deputy Ralph Bradley was on patrol Thursday Wednesday when he spotted the youths riding on Amarillo Drive. The 11-year-old driver readily admitted taking the bike from a nearby garage and led Bradley to another mini-bike he had taken.

The 11-year-old, on probation, was booked on two counts of burglary and two counts of vehicle theft.

His 12-year-old companions were booked on suspicion of receiving stolen property.

Greenfield Way residence burglarized

PLEASANTON — The Greenfield Way home of Ed Kinney, Zone 7 water board director and former Pleasanton mayor, was burglarized of $39 cash last week.

Police said burglars apparently entered an unlocked front door, ransacked the master bedroom and took cash hidden in the room.

There are no suspects.

Flutes taken from Amador High music room

PLEASANTON — Two Amador High School music students reported their flutes stolen from the school's music room last week.

Sheila Thomas of San Juan Way said that her $225 Gemeinhardt brand flute was taken from its locker in the music room.

Two days later, Cathy Michelsen of Mallard Drive reported her $240 Gemeinhardt flute had been removed from its locker. The serial number is A61705.

There are no suspects.

Sound system taken from Amador High

PLEASANTON — Amador High's $2000 sound system was stolen last Thursday from the school auditorium, police report.

An amplifier, tape deck and two speakers were taken from the auditorium. The speakers were on shelves at separate ends of the room, while the tape deck and amplifier were taken from a sound booth.

Police said a set of keys to the auditorium had been missing earlier and then found. It is theorized that the keys were copied. There are no suspects.

Man arrested for possessing dangerous drugs

PLEASANTON — A 27-year-old Pleasanton man was arrested after police responding to a traffic accident noticed the man was allegedly intoxicated.

Reserve officer Joseph Languemi was assisting at the accident scene when he noticed a man staring at the ground. He walked over and pulled a baggie containing three red capsules from the man's pocket and arrested him.

Booked on suspicion of drunk in public and possessing dangerous drugs was Michael William Andrews, 27, of 4228 Wells St.

Bound over on quick change

LIVERMORE — Changing drivers midstream caused Joe Pimentel to flow through the local municipal court and on to superior court in Oakland on charges of possessing PCP for sale.

Pimentel, 20, was arrested July 26 when police noticed the driver and a passenger of a car on I-580 change places while going 55 miles per hour.

During an arrest and search procedure, police said, Pimentel stood up and a small envelope allegedly fell out of his pants legs.

After a positive check reportedly confirmed the crystal substance to be the animal tranquilizer PCP, Pimentel and his friend Alfred Jimenez, 21, both of Stockton, were arrested.

After an unsuccessful motion by defense attorneys to suppress evidence Monday, Pimentel was bound over to superior court for a Nov. 15 appearance.

In other court action:

— Richard Miller, 29, of Oakland was released on his own recognizance to face a Nov. 17 preliminary hearing on charges he used force and violence to injure three of five deputies who held him down Sept. 24 when he allegedly became violently incoherent in a Santa Rita prison cell.

Deputies said Miller was shouting and screaming and appeared to place something in the keyhole to his cell door when the incident occurred.

An attempt to cuff him when it was noticed his mattress had been ripped apart, preceded a reported fight.

Deputy Robert Altmeyer was bruised on both elbows and received superficial scratches to his face, chin, neck and arms.

Deputy Fred Dean received bruises and abrasions on his right temple and a cut on the right index finger.

Deputy Michael Lange received a neck injury creating difficulty breathing. He was taken by ambulance to Valley Memorial Hospital for treatment.

— Richard J. McGee, 25, of Hayward, was arraigned Monday on charges he escaped Dec. 23 from Santa Rita Prison. He is scheduled to enter a plea today.

— Richar P. Selpan, 22, of Oakland, pleaded not guilty Monday to charges of possessing marijuana while an inmate at Santa Rita. He was charged when deputies reportedly saw him throw two baggies of marijuana in a trash can on the truck carrying a work detail of prisoners back to the prison compound.

He was searched and deputies reportedly took six hand rolled marijuana cigarettes from his pocket. Selpan is scheduled for a pretrial hearing Dec. 2.

Protests influence planning commission

PLEASANTON — The planning commission may adjourn earlier than anticipated tonight.

Several items scheduled for the agenda are expected to be continued because citizens have protested the lack of an Environmental Impact Report on them.

Four citizens signed a protest of the negative declaration for four warehouse or service commercial uses on old Santa Rita Road and a quick stop market at old Santa Rita Road and Tassajara Road. They were told the planning commission items related to those applications will be continued until the city council rules on whether an EIR will be required.

Other items scheduled for the agenda today at 8 p.m. in the City Council chamber Chambers include Ester Calupig's request to expand a guest home at 588 St. John St. to allow five more guests and Casa Verde Nursery's request to allow a landscape materials business at 5515 Sunol Blvd.

The commission also will review an application to allow churches and other religious institutions and private and public schools in general industrial districts on a conditional use permit.

Dublin blitz for chamber members

DUBLIN — A membership blitz will be conducted Nov. 17 by the Dublin Chamber of Commerce board of directors.

An announcement about the concentrated effort to increase the number of members was made by chamber directors Monday night.

Another item of business pertained to a catalog that is expected to be printed by January, 1977. It will list clubs and organizations within the Dublin area along with other vital information regarding the groups.

There was discussion about the problem Dublin businessmen have with the Pleasanton/Livermore phone book. They advertise in that phone book but it is not distributed in Dublin. In order for their advertising to reach the Dublin aea they also have to advertise in the Contra Costa County book which is sent to Dublin. Some of the businessmen contend it becomes too costly when they have to place double-advertising.

The chamber board of directors agreed to make further studies regarding the matter.

They're running for V.P., too

PLEASANTON — There is a contest for the office of Second Vice President for the Pleasanton Chamber of Commerce, and a Tuesday report in this newspaper failed to make note of that race.

Nominated for the post of second vice president are Mike Harris, local real estate broker, and Joyce Getty, operator of a downtown business. John Weisser is the lone candidate for first vice president and Bill Hirst is the nominee for president.

Balloting for all offices concludes Dec. 7.

In another correction, the chamber says the Nov. 23 scheduled luncheon meeting will feature two Pleasanton police officers reporting on drug abuse.

The chamber meets every Tuesday noon at Hap's Restaurant. The public is invited to the no - host luncheon.

Nomination deadline

LIVERMORE — Deadline for additional chamber of commerce nominations is 5 p.m. today.

An eight man slate has already been selected for election to the chamber's board of directors and nominations have been made for other various offices.

Other members wishing consideration for election must submit a petition signed by 10 members to the nominating committee by deadline time.

The new board and officers will be elected at the chamber's regularly scheduled board meeting Nov. 23.

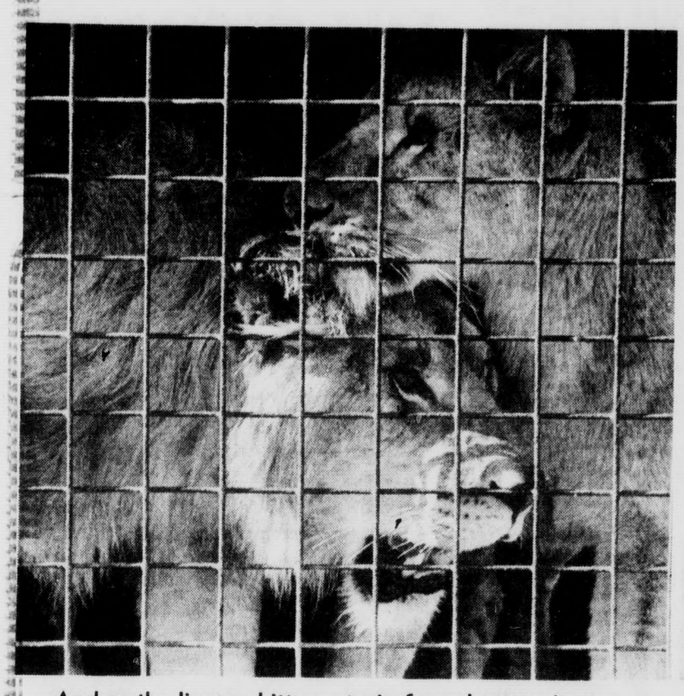
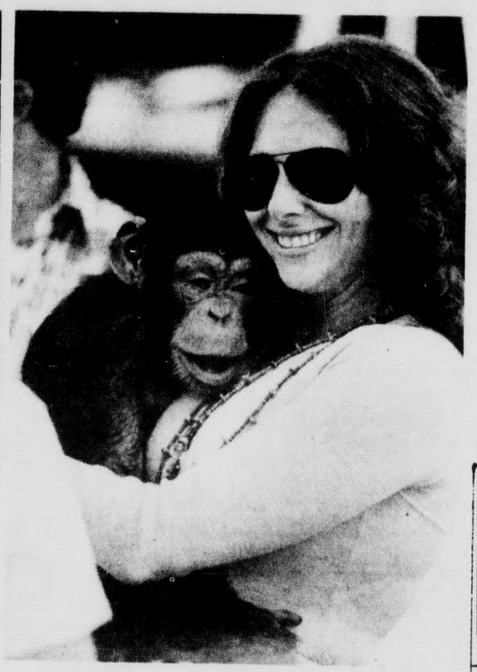
The Big Top rises!

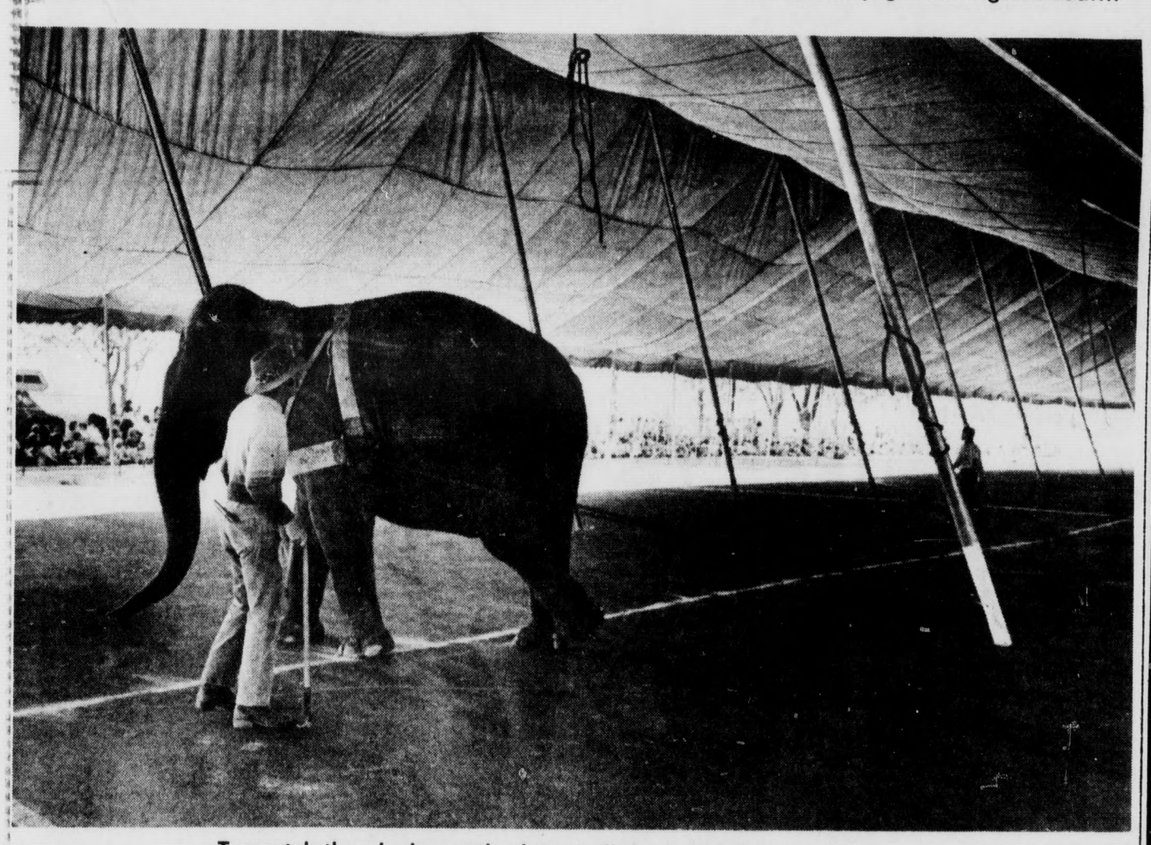
Happy faces abound as the elephant begins to pull things together at the fairgrounds yesterday...



And as the lioness kittens strain for a better view...



A baby chimp gets a ringside seat...



To watch the plucky pachyderm pull the last pole into place ...

And sigh, "Boy, I'm glad that's over with!"

Circus Vargas comes to town

Circus Vargas arrived in Pleasanton last night, bringing with it 150 international performers, a zoo's population of animals, and a harkening back to the days of good old time circus entertainment.

Busloads of Valley schoolchildren dropped in yesterday morning to watch the Big Top pulled into place by a single elephant and an army of helpers. Clowns paraded back and forth with trained animals and slight of hand tricks to add to the festive autumn atmosphere.

Ponies stood guard at fence rails awaiting their chance for center stage. The big cats growled continuously along the sidelines just to make their presence felt.

Eleven miles of thick rope were pulled into place as the 300-foot oval orange dome was molded into shape. As it rose, the atmosphere reflected the intensity of the show's nearness.

The long poles are hoisted into place now, 140 strong. Banners rise above the giant tent to herald the people in.

They're ready now. Clowns, aerialists, balancing acts, brass band and oh yes, the elephants, lions and tigers ... they're ready to show their stuff to an anxious audience.

Circus Vargas continues at the Alameda County Fairgrounds tonight and tomorrow beginning at 8 p.m.

City side spent most

MARTINEZ — San Ramon Valley incorporation proponents spent more than the opponents.

Campaign finance statements were filed this week by Town Now, WAIT (Work Against Increased Taxes) and NO Incorporation, a group that disbanded in late September.

Town Now lists accumulated expenses of $8,831, while WAIT has $7,263, and NO Incorporation had $644.

WAIT lists $1,535 in contributions and a $5,186 in loans.

The group received $100 from Harry M. Donaldson, a Danville sprinkler contractor; $250 from Falender Homes of Pleasant Hill; $50 from Valley Realty of Dublin; $200 from Conco Cement Co. of Concord; $50 from Flanagan's Frontier Shop in Danville; $500 from Stuart L. Rider and Dave Rutgers, developers who live in San Ramon; and $385 in donations of less than $50 each.

The group also has use of a $5,000 loan from Charter Bank of London. The loan was co-signed by Stuart L. Rider and Jack Weightman, vice president of WAIT.

WAIT also has a $186 loan from Bert Frazier, its treasurer.

Frazier estimates that the total budget will be about $12,000.

Town Now lists $9,060 in accumulated contributions.

Town Now received $1,750 from committees — $175 each from the Claudia Nemir Town Council Committee, John Meakin for City Council Committee, Citizens' Committee for Sledge for Council, James E. Miller for Council Committee, Committee to Elect Norm Roberts, Robert Bush Jr.'s campaign, Janice M. Ross' council campaign, Sandra Dickinson's council campaign, Gene Rolandelli's council campaign, and Howard E. Miles council campaign.

Other contributions came from George Jevick, a San Francisco businessman, $100; and $250 from Harold Smith, a homebuilder from Diablo.

All other contributions were for $50 and were from Duane Spencer of a Danville lumber company; Mac and Flora McAuley of Alamo, Carmine DeViVi of Imagemaker in Danville; Rick Wigton and Shirley Wigton of Danville, Steve Cuff of Danville, Darwin Dutwyler, a Danville orthodontist; Neil Mackay, a Danville dentist; and Tom and Marilyn Weston of Danville.

Also, C.W. Robinson Jr. of Danville; Carol Molta of Danville, Arnold Laub, a Walnut Creek attorney; Tom Jackson of Alamo, Helen and Howard Miles of Danville; Semmes Gordon of Diablo; Dr. Wilson Close of Danville; Worldcomm of Concord; Linda Moody of Diablo; Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Hirsch of Danville; Dick Kennett, an attorney; Mel and Carole Steinbrg of Danville; and John May, a Danville merchant.

Also, Peter Knoedler of Concord; Francie and John Miller of Danville; William Clements, a Danville dentist; Robert and Carol Brown, Danville merchants; Bill Baender, a Danville public accountant; William Koelsken, a Danville food broker; Carol A. Sherrill of Danville; F.C. Johnson of Danville; Fred Hoffman of Royal Pools in Walnut Creek; Jack Bell of Danville; and Don Sussman, owner of an Oakland pharmacy.

Also, Robert Bush Jr. of Alamo; Dr. and Mrs. Jerome Edwards of Alamo; Jack Schlendorff of Danville; Jerry Carter of Danville; the San Ramon Homeowners' Association; Bill and Janet Gore of Alamo; Jack Bravinder of Alamo; Ed and Linda Best of Alamo; Howard and Carol Rosenblum of Danville; Walt and Sandy Varco of Alamo; Ralph Cozine of Danville; Lucille Mauzy of Walnut Creek; and Judy and Mel Getz of Pleasant Hill.

Also, Len and Bev Shpherd, Danville retailers; Karen Granberg of Diablo; Kent Davis, a Danville dentist; T.C. Thompson, a Danville merchant; Don Sledge of Danville; Harlan Geldermann, a Danville developer; Julie Ann Kaldveer of Danville, Manfred Lindner of Danville; and Larry and Jean O'Brien of Danville.

Town Now also received $869 in contributions under $50 each.

The group lists its expenses for the period of Sept. 26 to Oct. 23 as: $149 for bumper strips, $1,860 for printing, $1,599 for stamps and postage, $66 for reception supplies, $240 for labeling, $963 in advertising in the Contra Costa Times and Valley Pioneer, $105 in advertising for the Tri-Valley News, $2,158 for a trip awarded as a prize in a drawing, and $112 in non-itemized expenses.

According to Beverly Lane, chairman of Town Now, the above list will be the last of the money collected and spent for the campaign.

Damaging fires on Tamarack

DUBLIN — Two houses on Tamarack Drive sustained several thousand dollars damage in two separate fires recently.

A fire caused by gas fumes ignited by a water heater caused approximately $4900 damage to a house at 8141 Tamarack about 2:30 Saturday afternoon. No injuries were reported. The house is owned by Dave Hodgson of Fremont.

An unattended pan on a hot stove led to a $2000 fire at 7786 Tamarack Monday No injuries were reported in that 1 p.m. blaze, with damage limited to the kitchen.

Murray fashion show reslated

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL EDSON
(Robert Thomas Photography)

Rose - Edson

Wearing her grandmother's antique gold watch, Donna Rose became the fall bride of Michael Edson before the Rt. Rev. Robert G. Adams at St. Michael's Catholic Church of Livermore. Both are graduates of Livermore High School.

Witnesses to the union were Maid of Honor Karen Cross with Best Man Stan Edson. Bridesmaids were Cheryl Anderson, Bernadette Ross and Kriste Gerhard. Ushers were Michael Watson, Cliff Edson, Bob Cereghino and Gary Edson. Heidi Gerhard was ringbearer.

The couple was feted at a reception at the Pleasanton Hotel before departing on a honeymoon to Carmel and the Highlands Inn.

The young couple now resides on College Avenue in Livermore.

Donna is the daughter of Mrs. Tina Rose of San Leandro and Manuel Rose of Livermore. The groom is the son of Alfred Edson of Union City and Carole Hendricks of Livermore. He is currently employed by the Intel Corporation.

MR. AND MRS. PHILLIP WILSON

Cook - Wilson

St. Bartholomew Episcopal Church of Livermore was the setting for the exchange of nuptial vows between Karen Cook and C. Phillip Wilson, both of Pleasanton.

Mrs. Susan Seiferth was matron of honor, with Mrs. Roseanne Brandon, JoAnn Walsh, Mrs. Carolyn Titus and Jana Wilson as bridesmaids. Best man was Craig Wilson with assistance from ushers Robert Cook, Mike Hart, Mark Schramm and Jan Scott.

The couple honeymooned at San Francisco before making a first home at Lemoore, Calif.

Karen is the daughter of Robert W. Cook, Jr., of Castro Valley and Mrs. Ann Cook of Pleasanton. She attended Chabot college after graduation from Amador Valley High School in 1972.

Phillip is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson of Pleasanton and a 1972 graduate of California State University at Hayward. He is stationed at Lemoore as a naval aviator.

Center - Soliz

The First Assembly of God in Pleasanton will be the setting of the Nov. 27 wedding of Jacqueline (Jackie) Center of Dublin to Roberto (Bob) Soliz of Pittsburg, Calif.

Both are graduates of Dublin High School. Jackie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard L. Center of Sheffield Court in Dublin. She attended Chabot College and is currently employed at Handyman in Antioch.

Bob, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Trall of Lincoln, Calif., is employed as a truck driver for the Rayne Water Service of Pacheco.

Conversion due

A Murray School District school will definetly be converted, and probably in time for the 1977-78 school year.

Murray district board members made that decision Monday, despite ongoing attempts by Residents - In - Action to stop any conversion.

Board members also received a worksheet on possible conversion of Murray School, put together by Wally Moreskine, district director of auxiliary services.

Though the Citizens Advisory Committee had studied the problem of converting a school to seventh - eighth grade use, and balanced that against maintaining the status quo, they made a single recommendation to convert Dublin School.

Throughout their deliberations, which included a survey to all district parents, the citizen - organized RIA continually voiced opposition to any conversion. Lenore Holmes, an officer in the group that surfaced in the Dublin School area, reiterated the opposition to conversion, citing the added busing of K-6 students such a move would cause.

Mrs. Holmes again pointed out petitions gathered in support of the RIA position and containing 1,765 signatures.

In the survey conducted by the CAC, which was duly established by the school board, the conversion - status quo vote wound up in a standoff.

The move toward conversion was keyed by comments from trustee Bob Foster Monday night. He asked the board reaffirm its intention to go to a K-6 and 7-8 organizational structure. The vote on the motion was 4-0 with board president Ted Woy absent.

At present, Wells is the lone 7-8 school while Nielsen, Dublin and Donlon are K-8 and Murray, Frederiksen, Cronin, Fallon and Lydiksen K-6.

Though they have scheduled further discussion on the CAC report, any move to convert a school would now center on either Dublin, Frederiksen, Murray or Fallon. The latter two have been advanced since the board received the CAC report.

The next regular meeting of the board, at which the report would be further reviewed, is scheduled a week from Monday.

In other business Monday, the board learned little headway has been made in efforts to secure a graduate student or planning professional to update the district master plan. The plan currently operative was approved at the outset of the 1971-72 school year.

The district has been in contact with the University of California, Stanford and Cal State Hayward in hopes of securing a grad student with expertise in school district planning. The district wishes to review where they are now and where they're going. They estimate it would cost between $5,000 and $15,000 to hire a professional to update the master plan.

Board members learned the long - idle Dublin School pool currently has one party interested in operating the pool. Business manager Phillip Chubb will meet with a representative today. The pool has lain idle for almost three years and is not being maintained.

Assistant superintendent Heinz Gewing said applications for the position of business manager closed Monday. The district has received 15 applications for the post Chubb will leave Dec. 1.

Superintendent Donald Williams, currently recuperating at home after flareup of a heart condition a month ago, is reviewing the letters of application.

The board endorsed a Valley Historical Society request to the board of supervisors for funds to establish a "California Heritage Center" adjacent to St. Raymonds in Dublin.

The main thrust of the Historical Society drive is restoration of old Murray School and to open it as a museum/ office/ community hall as soon as possible.

The board okayed hiring of Mary Ann Turner for an additional hour daily to work in the learning disabilities program at Donlon School.

Barbara Roberts, Valerie Webb sport hats encrusted with old campaign buttons as they hand out ballots.

LIVERMORE — "KIDS UNDER 18 ONLY" said the sign in front of the "voter registration" desk.

"Hey, lady," said the towheaded "official" when your Times reporter approached the desk.

Sternly: "You under 18?"

They were pretty fussy, just like voter officials are supposed to be. Teacher Lisa Emerson had really drummed it into them. A mimeographed list of "eligible voters;" a big book where each student signed his or her name; and two kinds of ballots.

The really simple one was for the little kids. Vote for one: Gerald R. Ford; Jimmy Carter.

Then there was the fancy one for upper graders, taking in not only the presidency but senator, representative, supervisor, assemblyman and Proposition 13 — greyhound racing.

After a morning of voting, the following results were posted on Mrs. Emerson's big yellow score sign:

President: Gerald Ford. Senator: John Tunney. Representative: James Mills. Supervisor: Valerie Raymond. Assemblyman: Floyd Mori.

And thumbs down on dog racing.

Arroyo Mocho School was saturated with politicking yesterday — a good reflection of what was going on in the outside world — as a mock "Senate" drew hundreds of students and parents.

Under the direction of teachers Bob Stansbury and Tulita Kuchins, fifth graders were holding forth into a microphone on various issues of the day.

A printed program announced debates on a worldwide food program; the right to die; strip mining; dog racing and B - 1 bombers.

Students selected states and became senators for them. They made an in - depth study to determine how their states would vote on the various issues, depending on geographic, economic, sociological and political conditions.

Flags and relief maps of their states formed a colorful backdrop the all - morning debates.

The fifth graders first began preparing the program three weeks ago when they circulated petitions in an attempt to capture the offices of vice president of the United States (John Badillo won that office); majority leader (Karen Henneberry); minority leader (Mike MacLean) and secretary - clerk (Jennifer Peck).

After the big Senate meeting yesterday, the "senators" adjourned for a "Senatorial Luncheon" composed of a salad, hors d'oeuvres and desserts representative of their states.

Counselors meeting Thursday

School counselors and psychologists will meet Thursday for the third - annual get - together of Valley Pupil Services Association.

The meeting will be at the Stoneridge Recreation Building in Pleasanton at 3:30 p.m.

This valley - wide association of 50 members is an affiliate of California School Counselor Association/ California Personnel and Guidance Association serving 3,300 pupil service employees in the state. The local group provides professional and social activities for all mental health professionals in the valley.

Livermore High School counselor John Tomkins is serving as president this year, and Jackie Barnett, counselor at Pleasanton School, is president - elect.

Back at Armstrong

Neil Armstrong School afternoon kindergarten teacher Margie Rolandelli talks with a couple of her charges during class Tuesday. Two kindergarten classes and two Open Education classes have returned to undamaged portion of school on Calais Drive in San Ramon. Upper grade classes are using section of pod on other side of movable wall in background. Classes moved back to "E" Pod Monday from Walt Disney School. Remainder of Armstrong students remain on double session with Disney students. Fire 2 1/1 weeks ago gutted much of Armstrong, causing estimated $500,000 in damages. School is not expected to be rebuilt in time to bring back any more students this school year.

Carter's the one in Dublin

Jimmy Carter and Walter Mondale were the choices of students holding mock elections at Dublin School and Donlon School on Monday and Tuesday.

The Carter - Mondale team outpolled President Gerald Ford and Robert Dole 49 to 45 in the "Now" class featured in a Times article Tuesday morning. The class is instructed by Doris Battin at Dublin.

In other results at Dublin, Dr. S.I. Hayakawa defeated John Tunney 51 to 37 for U.S. Senate and James Mills edged Fortney Stark 49 to 44 for 9th Congressional District.

More drug arrests

SAN SIMEON (AP) — Many more arrests are expected in connection with a major Southern California marijuana smuggling operation, according to authorities who have arrested 16 men and confiscated about five tons of "Thai-stick" marijuana.

The marijauna, a potent type believed to be worth more than $30 million, was seized minutes after it was allegedly smuggled ashore Monday from a fishing boat in a cove near Hearst Castle, authorities said.

The 79-foot fishing boat, the Long Phat, sped from the cove after apparently receiving a radio warning, authorities said, and a Coast Guard cutter went after the vessel, finally overtaking it after a four-hour chase.

Lecture tonight on UFO's

PLEASANTON— The only space scientist in the world known to be devoting full time to study of unidentified flying objects (UFOs) will present an illustrated lecture at Amador Valley High School auditorium tonight at 8.

Stanton T. Friedman will speak on "Flying Saucers Are Real," an illustrated lecture with about 40 35mm slides of data and of UFOs from all over the world. It is followed by an open question and answer session.

Tickets will be available at the door and are priced at $2.50 for adults and $2 for students.

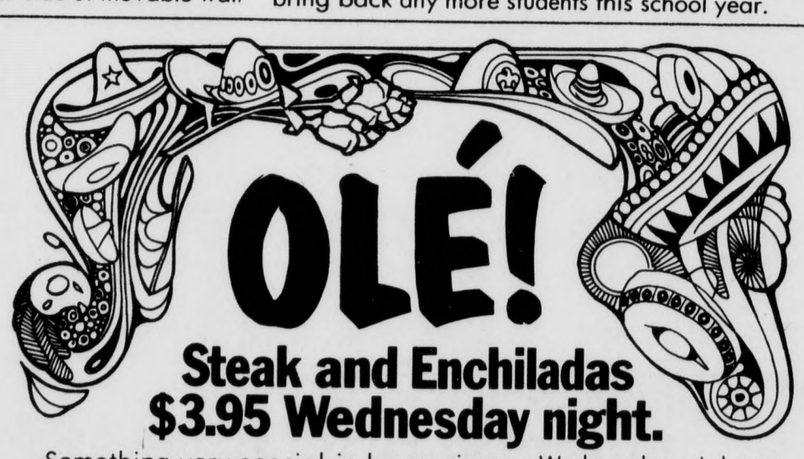
LIVERMORE — Have some pizza and help the Livermore High band!

The BandAids, the Livermore High parent group who help out the band, will be sponsoring a pizza night Nov. 8 at Pizza Arcade on East Avenue.

Profits will be split with the BandAids for food eaten there or taken home to football fans from 6 - 9 p.m.

Students will provide entertainment.

Have any extra paper? Bring it to Livermore High on Saturday, 9 - 5. Proceeds will help pay for transportation to competitions.



Steak and Enchiladas $3.95 Wednesday night.

Something very special is happening on Wednesday night at the Hungry Hunter Restaurant.

Steak and enchiladas.

For only $3.95, you get a juicy steak, two cheese enchiladas, salad and coffee, tea or milk.

The steak is choice top sirloin, and the enchiladas are superbly made in the Mexican manner.

Drop into the Hungry Hunter Restaurant on Wednesday night. We think you'll agree that this is the best dinner deal in town.

In fact, we'll stake our enchiladas on it.

Conference to clarify juvenile law

OAKLAND— Some 450 persons from all of California's counties will meet here Wednesday and Thursday to discuss issues involved in carrying out the mandate of new legislation which fundamentally changes the state's juvenile court law.

The conference is sponsored by the County Supervisors Association of California in cooperation with the State Office of Criminal Justice Planning.

The new legislation, Assembly Bill 3121, signed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Jr. in September, provides more stringent judicial procedures for 16 and 17-year old violent offenders. It also prohibits the detention of status offenders in juvenile halls and correctional institutions and specifies the establishment of community-based programs for them. Status offenses are juvenile offenses such as runaway, incorrigibility and truancy, which could not be considered crimes if they were committed by adults. Assembly Bill 3121 brings the state into compliance with the intent of the U.S. Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Act of 1974.

The law poses serious problems for California counties, which must now quickly comply with the changes in juvenile law. These problems include finding local detention facilities for status offenders, reassigning county juvenile justice personnel and determining the costs involved.

Pearl S. West, newly-appointed director of the California Youth Authority, will moderate a panel discussion on the intent of the legislation. Panel members will be representatives of the State Senate and Assembly. A featured speaker will be Fred Nader of the Federal Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention.

Participants in the conference, to begin at the Edgewater Hyatt Hotel near the Oakland Airport, will be representatives of county supervisors, chief probation officers, law enforcement, district attorneys, public defenders, regional planning directors, Superior Court judges, the State Advisory Group on Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention, California Youth Authority, and the Office of Criminal Justice Planning.

Election litter

The campaigning is over. And about all that remains for an army of volunteers is to clean up the debris, pull down the signs, get rid of the last of those brochures.

There ought to be more to it than that. The tremendous zeal of weeks and months, the energy that produced a candidate, even a loser, should not now be stacked away with all the other election litter.

America is turned on by elections. But government revolves around the interest and the action of those who stick with it ... long after the balloting is done, well before there is opportunity to start campaigning again.

"We get the same old tiresome candidates, no matter what." That's a familiar gripe, heard mostly just before an election. It's the "no matter what" we should be worried about. What about your participation in the system? What do you do to attract better public servants, or keep the ones we already have from dropping out?

And what is your understanding of the issues ... how is a proposition built? ... who gets these crazy things on the ballot in the first place? Is there really a chance to shift the property tax burden from single family homes?

The answers are here, now. The work begins one year, even four years before the candidate is locked in, the proposition written, when only your "yes or no" is needed.

If you don't like the questions, then this is the time to ask some of your own. If you didn't care much for the candidates, this is the season to plant a better crop.

Everybody loves an election, or at least we used to. Some like to get involved, post those signs, write those letters. That kind of interest, that reserve of energy should not now be stacked away with the other election debris.

Keep your interest alive. Keep America alive. The system does work. But not just every four years.

Funds for rec

Grantsmanship, the art of seeking and receiving government and private foundation money for a worthy project, has become an art in the past decade or so. Almost all school districts and county governments have hired professionals to look over the thousands of grants available in a wide variety of fields and do all the paperwork necessary to get the funds.

Dick Bota, a Pleasanton resident long active in local recreation circles, feels the time has come for Pleasanton to practice the art of grantsmanship. There are many grants available for recreational and cultural activities at the city level.

City government should not have to hire a special person to scan the grant lists and fill out the paperwork, Bota believes. This can be done by a committee of citizens. Considering the track record of the Bicentennial Committee for getting civic things done, Bota would like to see that group tackle his idea. We hope the Bicentennial Committee membership can take it on, or if it can't, we hope other citizens come forward to devote time to Bota's good idea.

No smoking

"Be good to yourself on Nov. 18."

That could be the message American Cancer Society sends out to Californians. What the ACS is really after is to convince 24,000 residents of this county to quit smoking for just that one day, Nov. 18. It is all part of the "Great American Smokeout (GAS) that is the Cancer Society's new thrust.

Other counties can count on the same concerted effort, as the Cancer Society moves through California in search of the five million people who still rely on tobacco as a way of life; or maybe it's death.

"Lung Cancer is a horrible way to go," the Society states, dramatically, honestly. The smoking habit has come to mean something more than "just chopping a year or two off my lifespan." Tobacco can make living itself miserable, and not just for the smoker.

So try to break the bond, at least for one day. Nov. 18 is your big chance. If you need help, dial 934-7640. Breaking a bad habit is never easy, even one that is killing you.

Smoggy advice

Cleaning up our environment — most particularly our polluted air — is everybody's number one project. Right? Well, not if you read the latest release from Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

The BAAPCD wants to complete appointments to that 20 - member Advisory Council. The council is set up to provide citizen input on important decisions concerning air pollution, setting standards for industry, agriculture, and that sort of thing.

But there is no rush by the Bay Area citizenry to get on that Advisory Council. The posts, you might say, are going begging.

The Personnel Committee of BAAPCD has set Nov. 11, 12 and 15 to review all applications for Advisory Council posts. Representation is mandated from industry, agriculture, environmental groups, community planning, labor, the construction industry and so forth.

Since this Valley gets the brunt of much of the Bay Area's foul air export, it would be nice if we had direct representation on the board that is supposed to control air pollution. Any takers? You may write: Secretary to the Board of Directors, 939 Ellis St., San Francisco 94109. The deadline is Friday, Nov. 5.

Ready to hatch again

Hindsight/Foresight

Vote guessperting

Barely three years ago, when the bottom began to fall out of the Nixon Administration and Watergate came to the fore, political pundits across the nation started predicting the disastrous affect the revelations would have on the Republican Party in 1974 and 1976.

Since these editorial page columns are written at least a day in advance of publication, we can only do our best to "guesspert" at what will have transpired when you learn the results of the various national, state and local elections.

One gets certain feelings after being deluged for months by campaign materials and rhetoric.

Like the rest of the pundits, we also felt this would be the election when all the Nixon and Watergate "skeletons" came back to haunt the Republican Party.

Not that they should be deserved.

What one administration did should not have ever-lasting bearing on all other candidates, nationally and locally, of the same party.

Looking at the elections the day before yesterday, we could not help but feel that this nation is moving more toward a dominant one party (Democratic) with the Republicans sharing the remaining population with a growing number of independents, disenchanted, and various socialist and worker political parties.

Possibly the most hotly-contested race on Tuesday's ballot, at least for valley voters, was the John Murphy - Valerie Raymond showdown. It is our feeling that Murphy will have gained another four-year term on the strength of how Fremont voted.

No matter who wins, District 1 voters have made it clear that their Supervisorial rep must improve communications with the populace and do something about property taxes NOW.

Going from valley on up, we see Assemblyman Floyd Mori being returned by a landslide (when all the ballots are tabulated later today), Congressman Fortney Stark being returned by a big margin (but opponent Jim Mills receiving sufficient encouragement to try again two years hence), John Tunney edging Dr. S.I. Hayakawa for the senate seat (Tunney got the L.A. Times very-influential endorsement), and Gerald Ford winning the election for president.

It will be interesting to see how Jerry Ford runs in California. If he should win the state by five to 10 per cent, as predicted by at least one major poll, it should be a very definite "message" to the California Democratic Party and especially Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Jr.

I, for one, hope the governor gets the message!

On the other races of interest to valley residents (again, this was done from "foresight"), I believe Bob Allen will have gotten the nod over John McCardle in the BART area race, Proposition 13 (greyhound racing) will have been resoundingly defeated and Proposition 14 (farm labor initiative) defeated by a slight margin.

And like many of the rest of you, we also stayed up late to see how the trends were going and learn who television was "declaring" as elected before the west coast polls had even closed.

College entrance age

The opening of admissions to those of pre-college age by Chico State University is a commendable step forward in modern educational systems. While age has never been a qualification for college entrance, the present day public school programs have put the average age of post secondary students at over 18. So, excepting for those who by grades and qualifying preparatory courses win their way in at earlier ages, the colleges have tended to preclude younger students.

The Chico move is apparently the result of legislation fostered by Senator Arlen Gregorio which permits two year high school students to end their secondary studies by passing an achievement examination demonstrating knowledge equivalent to high school completion. It was a sagacious measure. Not only does it relieve the students from the drudgery of being drilled in things they already know but saves the taxpayers money in the doing.

But there has been a hitch in the Gregorio plan whether it was foreseen or not. That is the difficulty those who have opted out of high school through the examination are finding in furthering their education. Excepting for the community colleges failure to have formally completed studies in specific studies have barred matriculation in most colleges.

Certainly, as has become all too evident, possession of a high school diploma does not guarantee qualification for collegiate studies. Neither should the absence of such a diploma serve as a bar to college. In fact it doesn't if one is over 21. But the failure to recognize that younger students who have not completed high school may be fully as capable of benefitting from college studies has been principally an unwillingness to believe those below 18 are ready for college.

The fallacy of this is readily seen by reviewing just those who have held the highest office in the land. Half of the nation's 38 Presidents had completed college by the age of 21. Thirteen of them were 20 or under, including James Monroe who graduated at 20 and John Quincy Adams from Harvard at 20 despite time out before entering college.

Even younger were Chester Arthur graduating from Union College and James Buchanan from Dickinson College both at 18 and Benjamin Harrison from Hampden Sydney College and Zachary Taylor from William and Mary both at 17. Andrew Jackson was practicing law at age of 19 and Martin Van Buren commenced law practice when he was 18. Herbert Hoover enrolled at Stanford when he was 16.

Amnesty

You all know how it goes. The new kid moves into the block, shows up at school the first day, and the other kids pummel the hell out of him. The new kid doesn't fit in and the class bully sees to it that he will or else.

Governments do that, too. People with ideas that don't agree with the government have to be made to fit in and they get pummeled. These repressive governments use cruder, more effective pummeling called torture, which has become an acceptable (to the governments involved) means of political manipulation in at least 30 or 40 countries today. The American government gives money and guns to maintain some of these torturers in power, but fortunately at the grass roots level some Americans are doing something about this basic attack on the universal right of free speech.

Amnesty International has its headquarters in London, but probably its greatest growth has come in the United States where there are more than 100 groups. Demonstrating the old adage that the pen is mightier than the sword, members of the groups write letters to the governments in question to obtain release of specific prisoners of conscience. These prisoners come to the attention of the London office, their cases are investigated, and if they are found to be people who are in jail merely for their political opinions, they are adopted by an Amnesty International group.

The United States branch of AI publishes a tabloid newspaper called "The Matchbox." It contains reporting on torture and political repression in many countries. For example, in its story about torture in Iran, there is a poet's description of the room where he was tortured. "There were all a sizes of whips hanging from nails on the walls. Electric batons stood on little stools and a nail plucking instrument as well. The gallows on the other side was used to hang you upside down; then someone would beat you with a mace on your legs..." There's more, but I have to keep my audience in mind.

The encouraging news from AI is that the letter - writing campaigns work. Reports from many AI groups around the country show that at least 20 prisoners were released in the last six months because of AI efforts. In this decade of defused idealism it's nice to know there is still a good cause getting some tangible results. For example, Group 11 from New York City got one Chilean and one Russian released from detention. They are still helping their former Chilean prisoner. Group 110 of Arlington, Va., leafletted at the USA/USSR track meet at the University of Maryland in August to publicize the case of Ms. Niole Sadunaite, a Lithuanian jailed in Russia because she distributed something called "The Chronicle of the Lithuanian Catholic Church."

Group 100 of Manchester, Mass., reported release of an Argentinian last winter and someone from East Germany in July. Group 54 in Cambridge, Mass., visted the Taiwanese consulate on behalf of their adopted prisoner and learned he received a reduction in sentence from 10 years to six. The success stories just keep rolling in. Even repressive regimes are subject to embarassment in the eyes of the world.

The work of Amnesty International appeals to me on several levels. For one thing, there is a genuine person - to - person contact, a sort of "pen pals" idea. Letters are important to people in prison and I seem to recall from my early days in the Catholic Church that visiting the imprisoned was a work of mercy or charity or something like that. It was the right thing to do, anyway. The work also appeals to me because I think the right to free speech is absolute and universal. You don't pop off people or torture or imprison them just for believing in an idea. And you never know know — someday the shoe may be on the other foot and we'll need people in Sweden writing for our release.

round the town

This has been some kind of election.

I mean, it's one thing for Ford and Carter and the rest of the politicians. They're conditioned to that sort of thing. But what about the average citizen? The presidential campaigns of 1976 have left their mark, let me tell you.

In living rooms throughout the nation, Americans were watching the late, late returns come in. Through the magic of "Candid Information, Audio" (CIA) to which this newspaper subscribes (it comes as part of the comics' page package) we are able to bring you this typical reaction from a typical American living room, as the final ballots were being flashed onto the tv screen.

Absen T. Voter and his wife, Taken (she's liberated, likes to be addressed as "Ms. Taken") are sitting in front of the television, well into their fifth Jumbo Size bag of popcorn.

"I don't know when I've been so uncertain about any election," Absen says. "Other than my vote for Gerald Ford, I had no firm conviction about the candidates this time."

"Gerald Ford?!" Ms. Taken says. "I thought you and I had a firm understanding about going for Margaret Wright, the Peace and Freedom candidate. That's the way I marked your Sample Ballot, as you'll recall."

"Oh ... right, WRIGHT!" Absen says. "I meant Margaret Wright, of course. It just show's you how really confused this campaign has left me."

Ms. Taken opens herself another can of Coors, hands her husband a Coke, and settles back to a watch the results.

"I'm really amazed that Ford is doing that well in the midwest," she says. "After all those disclosures about Ford's golfing habits, I would think the people of the midwest would be more choosy."

"Yes," Absen agrees, sticking a clean straw into his Coke, "and I thought Carter would be hurt in the Bible belt, what with his Playboy Magazine interview and everything ... especially with those nudie pictures right alongside. Wowie babe!"

"What nudie pictures?" Ms. Taken demands. "I had no idea you looked at that kind of thing. You didn't bring a copy of that filthy magazine into THIS house, I hope!"

"Oh ... no, NO!" Absen insists. "I came across a copy at the barber shop, and while I was looking for the Carter interview ... to check up on his political views ... my eye just happened to catch one or two of those photo pinups. Very disgusting," he assures Ms. Taken.

"This campaign has certainly confirmed the weakness in most men," Ms. Taken says, firmly. "Fooling around on golf courses, grown men playing softball like children, or sitting around and doing all that lusting ... it certainly has opened up American womanhood's eyes on this so - called 'male supremacy.'"

Absen T. Voter squirms uncomfortably, says something about "going into the kitchen for a fresh straw for my Coke." When he returns, Ms. Taken Voter is deep into the Texas returns.

"Mr. Cronkite says Texas is leaning to Carter. And after all the nasty things that Carter man said about that nice Lyndon Johnson. I think Texans are fickle, don't you?"

Absen mumbles "Yes, dear," and reaches in for another handful of popcorn.

"I have been really proud of Betty Ford throughout this whole campaign," Ms. Taken says. "And Rosalynn Carter too, for that matter. Did you ever see two finer women? Makes you wonder how far either of them might have gone if they hadn't been dragging along those tiresome husbands of their's."

Absen T. is not listening too closely, having lost his straw under the divan, necessitating a most thorough search, on hands and knees.

"Sit up here and look at this," Ms. Taken admonishes him. "CBS is making its projection for the winner of the United States Senate seat in California .... Tunney! How can they predict a man like John Tunney is going to win over that nice Mr. Hayakawa. Don't they realize that Senator Tunney is just another playbody ... he even looks like that awful Carter person. All those teeth!

"Now they're giving us their projections on the California propositions ... Would you look at that!! I cannot believe that CBS really believes Proposition 13 is going to win! Think of all those poor little dogs ... not to mention the rabbits! If CBS wants more legalized gambling then let them take it back to New York where Mr. Cronkite and those other television people live. Why project those things for California ...

But Absen T. Voter is out of range, and out of the house. He finally decided that what this American needed is a new package of straws. The liquor store stocks 'em ... along with Playboy Magazine, of course.

The 1976 presidential elections may be a thing of the past, but some of the lust lingers on.

Commuter parking woes

Editor, The Times:

I see that K-Mart has recently joined several other "Civic-Minded" establishments in Dublin, by restricting commuters who are doing their part in protecting the environment and conserving natural resources from parking in unused portions of their parking lots.

K-Mart in particular is a sore point in that there is no nearby street parking; and seeing that they had originally over extended themselves, and are now the proud owners of an empty building and a football field of unnecessary customer parking space in which commuter parking in no way inconveniences shoppers. What little additional costs commuter parking may cause K-Mart management, must surely be off-set by profits from their "On-The-Spot" purchases.

Perhaps what is needed is the relocation of bus stops away from these establishments into areas with available street parking. Or yet, better still a Boycott of these establishments until there are empty buildings, Empty Parking Lots, and no inept, duncical management.

South looked over dummy quickly and saw that his slam contract was a mighty poor one. Then he set about to steal it.

He led a trump to dummy's ace and a second trump back to his king. Then he led a low diamond!

If West had played his king it would have been all over for South, but West wasn't quite up to that play at that early stage of the proceedings. West played low!

Now South rose with dummy's ace, cashed his ace and king of hearts, ruffed a heart in dummy, discarded a diamond on the king of clubs, ruffed dummy's last club, led a diamond and made his contract since West was thrown in with the king of diamonds and had to lead a heart or club to allow South to ruff in dummy and discard his last diamond at the same time.

Maybe West should have put up that king of diamonds at his first opportunity. He probably would have done just that if South had stripped the hand before leading the suit, but South made his play early and it worked.

Ask the Jacobys

A Georgia reader wants to know if the late Milton Work was a better bridge player than the late Wilbur Whitehead.

These were two of the greatest authorities on auction bridge. Work was a better teacher and writer, but Whitehead was a better player. Both were too old to make a really successful transition to contract.

(Do you have a question for the experts? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The Jacobys will answer individual questions if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are enclosed. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

Elk feast for hunters

In the Bag

Bill Caldwell, Ken Culp, Ed King, and Skip Haight (hunting members of the "Soap Creek, Saddle Sore Social Club") made their annual elk hunting trip back to Colorado, the Soap Creek area near Gunnison. And as usual the four came home with just lots of top quality elk meat. Those guys really know how to help each other and to take care of their animals. Quick field dressing is very important, they all agree.

The four left Livermore on the 12th and on arrival in Colorado found the weather consistently below freezing, but no snow. They discovered the freezing temperature was just the ticket for making ice cubes in a muffin tin. Just what they needed!

On Saturday, the 16th, they all ganged up on a couple of elk. They couldn't tell who did what, but two elk were down and then the real work started. They figured that two elk were half a limit, so went to work and got them dressed out and back to camp.

Bill says after the work has finished, the muffin tin ice cubes really served their purpose.

In the cold hours of Sunday morning, Ed spotted a good 4-point bull; after a bit of stalking, he found the bull some distance away on a steep rocky slope. Not the best place, but Ed figured it was his best opportunity so he let off a round and saw the bull go down.

Unfortunately, the elk started sliding down to the bottom of the rock slide, winding up on the ice in the creek below. Not too good a place for dressing out the meat, and the horns were broken; but Ed was pleased with the results.

On Monday, Bill wound up with a big fat spike bull. So with four elk on the meat pole, the boys figured it was about time to get out. It had warmed up and started snowing, so they were glad to get the pack horses and meat back down to the base pack station.

Ken and the others heartily recommend their packer, Gerald Fields of Ridgeway, Colorado if you go to that country to hunt. He has good horses and equipment.

All the boys used bolt action rifles with scopes, and each has a favorite cartridge. Ed with a 270 Weatherby Mag; Ken and Skip with a 7 mm Rem. Mag; and Bill likes a 300 Win. Mag. These are all excellent long range elk cartridges.

Gene Dahout, Ron Hill, Bill Ramsey, and Jim Van Atta spent last weekend fishing at Mammoth Pool Reservoir. Thursday they reached the Reservoir in time to set up camp, unload the boats and catch enough trout to feed all four of them a good supper.

None of the fish was in the trophy mounting class, but were good scrappy rainbows from 11 to 13 inches. The boys were using homemade lures and one Lucky Night. They report the water was low in the reservoir and dropping at the rate of 12 inches each day. Water was cold, as temperature dropped well below freezing each night.

They used spinning rigs, with a variety of names on each rod and reel. They report good camping spots available. Camping out was not exactly primitive as Jim pulled his 22-foot hotel in. Jim says it's a tough, slow road in and out, and he wouldn't recommend it as an easy trip.

All the fish they could eat were available and they even shared with several hungry deer hunters who were camped nearby. Now they are figuring on how they are going to get in there early next spring.

Somehow an error crept into this column last week. I would like to correct the score turned in by Bill Spinola as it appeared.

Bill Spinola was the High Overall individual at the PITA shoot at the Livermore/Pleasanton Rod and Gun Club. His score was as follows: 16 yds., score 98; Handicap, score 98; Doubles 42 — for a total score of 238.

His wife told Bill, "I have a feeling this is your lucky day. So go on over to Livermore and win that high overall."

"So here I am, and that's what happened!" said Bill. "I guess I'll take her out to dinner."

Good thinking, Bill, and good shooting, too!

Looks as though the Volta Top Refuge for the high bird average on opening day of duck and goose season with an average of 6 per hunter!

Three state and federal areas on which the opening of the waterfowl hunting season was deferred because of late crop harvests will be open to hunting beginning Saturday (Nov. 6).

Areas included in the delayed opening are the state's Gray Lodge Wildlife Area and the Sacramento and Delevan national wildlife refuges. Also opening Nov. 6 is the Joice Island unit of the Grizzly Island Wildlife Management Area.

There was limited hunting beginning Oct. 23 on the Colusa and Sutter national wildlife refuges, where openings were to have been deferred. The program was instituted in an effort to keep birds from concentrating on botulism hot spots on the two areas.

Hunting on nine other state and federal waterfowl areas opened Oct. 23, and the Perris Reservoir State Recreation Area opened to hunting Oct. 24.

Because of insufficient water, there will be no hunting program this year on Kern NWR.

Openings were delayed on the three areas because of the fear that shooting would drive waterfowl onto the still unharvested rice.

Warriors romp

OAKLAND — Golden State's Warriors rallied in the fourth quarter to take an easy 111-98 win over the Detroit Pistons at the Coliseum Arena here last night.

Rookie Robert Parish came off the bench near the end of the third quarter to spark the Warrior rally with his rebounding and defensive ability.

Veteran Rick Barry and Phil Smith each had nine points in the final quarter for the Warriors. Golden State is now 3-2 in National Basketball Association play.

Chabot booters stunned, 2-1

HAYWARD — A not-so-funny-thing happen to the Chabot College soccer team 1:38 before the Gladiators were to take a giant step toward a third straight Golden Gate Conference soccer championship here yesterday.

Leading the Foothill Owls, 1-0, on Kelly Clark's 30-yard direct kick midway through the first half, the Glads were forced into overtime when the visitors, ranked number one in the state, suddenly reversed Chabot's second-half dominance.

Robert Bjelica launched a blooping indirect kick toward the Chabot goal and when goalie Pete Howard came out to challenge for the ball, Tom Vanderhoof popped a header into the right corner of the net to send the game into overtime.

A similar play three minutes into the additional 20 minutes of play gave Foothill a 2-1 win and a firm hold on first place in the GGC.

But, officially, the game's not over yet.

"I placed the game under protest," said Chabot coach John Shaw afterward. "I saw a hand come in and punched the ball in on the second goal."

On that Foothill score, Bjelica snapped a head shot past Howard after a corner kick by substitute wing Chris Hull had found its way through a mob of players.

Shaw believes that video tape of the game will bear out his contention that the ball was punched, and not headed, into the goal and related that film has been consulted to settle past protests.

Chabot must now hope for a West Valley upset of Foothill and win its own final three games to have any hope of a tie for the championship. However, pending the outcome of matches with Diablo Valley and second-place DeAnza, the Glads could enter the State playoffs as a wild card team.

Despite the loss, Shaw refused to speak harshly of his team.

"Everybody played well," he said. "I thought we were at least as good as Foothill. We've been working toward this all year."

Although Chabot led for more than 70 minutes, Shaw never considered bringing his players back into a defensive alignment.

"We never used the 4-3-3, since it didn't work the first time (a 1-0 loss to Foothill last month)," he explained. "We threw everything up into the attack. We wanted another goal."

What the Owls really wanted seemed to be another player. Unable to count, or perhaps direct traffic, the Owls constantly had to chase one or more players off the field to get down to the standard 11.

For most of the game, even an extra player would have done Foothill little good, as their best scoring opportunity was called back on an offside play.

Twelve minutes from the end of regulation play, Bjelica lofted the ball over Howard and Walt Griffeth chipped it into the open net, but Griffeth had been offside.

Foothill outshot Chabot, 22-11, and out - corner - kicked the Glads, 7-4. Both Howard and Owl netminder Britt Irvine collected four saves apiece.

The Glads travel to DVC Thursday night for a 7:30 p.m. game with the Vikings.

San Diego pitcher Randy Jones appears at a press conference after winning the National League's Cy Young award.

Padres' Jones Cy Young victor

NEW YORK — Randy Jones, the little lefthander who won 22 games for the San Diego Padres last season, was named winner of the National League's Cy Young Award Tuesday by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Jones, who narrowly lost last year's award — emblematic of pitching supremacy — to Tom Seaver of the New York Mets, drew 19 of the 24 first-place votes in balloting by a committee composed of two baseball writers from each of the 12 National League cities.

That easily outdistanced runner-up Jerry Koosman of the New York Mets, who drew seven first-place votes. Mets teammate Jon Matlack and Don Sutton of the Los Angeles Dodgers received one first-place vote apiece.

Jones, a 5-foot-11, 180-pounder currently recovering from offseason arm surgery which threatens his career, also received six second-place votes and three third-place votes in the election.

He was the only one mentioned on each ballot, collecting 96 points. Koosman, a left-hander, had 69½ points with Sutton third at 25½.

Balloting by the BBWAA was on a points system with five for first place, three for second and one for third.

Lefthander Steve Carlton of the NL East champion Philadelphia Phillies received 11 points; Rawly Eastwick, reliever for the World Champion Cincinnati Reds got six points; southpaw Matlack got five, J.R. Richard of the Houston Astros had two points and Seaver got one point.

Four of the eight pitchers to receive points were lefthanders.

Jones sprinted to 16 triumphs in his first 19 decisions but fell sharply after the All-Star break to finish at 22-14. Koosman charged at the end to boost his record to 21-10, his first 20-victory season. Sutton also finished with 21 triumphs in his first 20-victory season.

Jones' faltering second-half performance had been caused by trouble with a nerve in the biceps tendon of his left arm.

"I couldn't make a muscle," Jones recalled Tuesday, reflecting on his 6-11 finish. "The doctor said the nerve had been fatigued to the point that it wasn't working. Everything I had worked for for the last two years could have gone up in smoke.

"I thought my career was over."

When the season ended, "I went into the hospital and really got frightened when they shaved both my arms."

There was a possibility that tendons from his right arm would have to be transplanted to his left — a procedure similar to the one survived by the Dodgers' Tommy John.

Fortunately for Jones, that didn't prove necessary. "I was scared, but the operation went great. It took an hour and a half and it went great. The doctor said the arm is in great shape for the amount of use it's had."

That included 315 1-3 innings pitched for the fifth-place Padres with 25 complete games. Jones, in 40 games, struck out just 93 batters but walked only 50 and compiled the league's sixth-best earned run average: 2.74.

Good enough for the Cy Young.

"It was a feeling of great elation when I found out," he said.

But then again, it's been quite a month for Randy Jones. Just 3½ weeks ago, he underwent the surgery which reportedly will prevent him throwing the slider — one of his most effective pitches. On Oct. 24, his wife presented him with Jami Jones, their second daughter.

And Tuesday came the phone call which brought to fruition a childhood dream.

MV spikers win, stay in title race

ALAMO — Monte Vista stayed in the East Bay Athletic League volleyball race while Granada suffered a crushing blow yesterday as the Mustangs nipped the Mats, 15-1, 1-15, 15-13 in a key match yesterday here.

Both teams now have four loses as the EBAL winds its season down to the final week, a game behind first place San Ramon.

In another key EBAL contest San Ramon kept the league lead with a 15-1, 9-15, 15-9 victory over host Livermore.

San Ramon leads the EBAL race with a 11-3 mark with one match left tomorrow against Monte Vista.

Amador took California, 15-13, 15-5 in another varsity tilt.

"You can't score unless you serve in this game," Mustang coach Nancy Eyler said after watching the Mats and Mustangs play Jekyll and Hyde in the first two games but tiny Noreen DiMaggio came through with the winning serve in the final game, making true Eyler's statement. The Mustangs' serving was mediocre at best throughout the final game.

Monte Vista jumped out to a 3-1 lead in the final game, but the Mats came back to go ahead, 7-4 on booming serves by Lisa Bonetti, Lynn Bousliman and Mary Bosque.

The team led until Bonetti came back with overpowering serves to give the Mats a seemly safe 12-8 lead.

DiMaggio stepped in for the 'Stangs, through, and served the final next three points to give the Mustangs a 13-12 lead. Granada tied it at 13-13 but gave up the ball again.

This time, Carol Dolsby spiked to give the ball back to the Mustangs and then went on to serve the final two points for the victory.

Granada coach Anne Krummes noted the Mats' increasing difficulty all year to win the crucial first set as their big problem.

"They just got flustered after that first game," she said. "It's gonna kill us everytime."

Krummes also said the lack of communications was a step to their downfall. "Communications, weren't good at all," she said. "There are two kinds of communications: verbal and non - verbal. They started doing it more in the second set but not at the end.

The win left Eyler with an optimistic view of her team's post season chances. "I think we got a good chance at North Coast," Eyler said, referring to the fact that the NCS will pick an at-large team. Granada, also has a reasonable chance at a NCS berth.

Karen Koelingia led San Ramon with 20 points in its win over Livermore. She scored 14 points in the first match, five in the second and one in the finale.

Gordon Flecto winner

Winning the Flecto prep of the week award is an achievement in itself but when the award goes to a freshman it takes on added significance.

That was the case this week when Tripp Gordon of Monte Vista High School won the Contra Costa County Flecto Award. Gordon, just a freshman, won the East Bay Athletic League individual singles tennis crown with a victory over defending champion David Finn of Amador Valley in the finals.

Gordon lost only 14 games in seven sets of the championship series. During the year he lost only two dual matches.

Andrei Wallace of Albany High won the Alameda County award for leading the Cougars' football team to a smashing 30-14 win over Alameda.

Wallace hit on 17 of 27 passes for 276 yards and two touchdowns. The 6-1, 180 pound Wallace helped Albany achieve a tie for the league lead with Piedmont.

Rick Gildea of Livermore and Granada's Vance Rushing were among those nominated for the Alameda award.

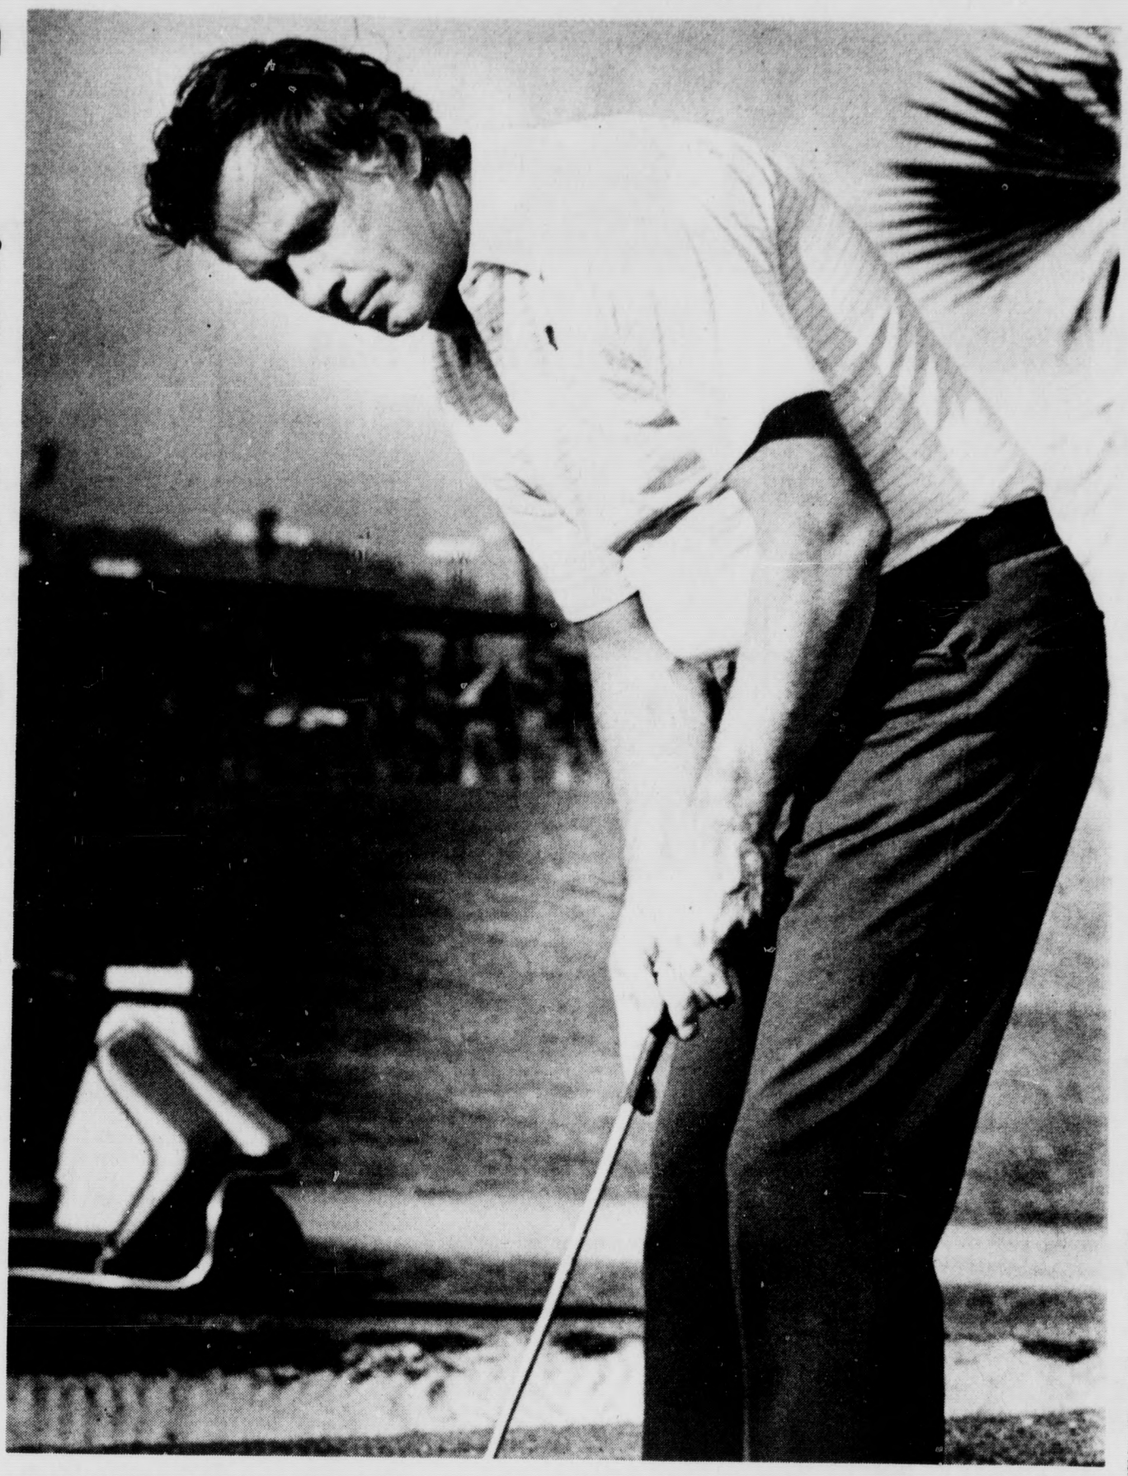
Rushing "rushed" for 214 yards and scored five touchdowns. He also caught one pass for 25 yards, punted kicked off and ran back punts in the Mats' 46-25 win over California.

Gildea completed five of nine passes for 134 yards and three touchdowns. He also scored a touchdown as the Pokes topped Dublin, 47-21.

Other nominees for the Contra Costa award were Bubba Thomas of Salesian, Mark Dent of Pinole Valley, Greg Moore of Campolindo, and Joe Aliotti of Pittsburg.

Thomas had four quarterback sacks and 10 tackles plus a touchdown pass. Dent threw for 128 yards and two scores in Pinole's 26-0 win over Richmond, He also punted five times for a 46-yard average.

Moore rambled for 147 yards and two scores in the Cougars' 21-13 upset of Alhambra. Aliotti hit seven of nine passes for 181 yards and directed Pitts' triple option running game for 240 rushing yards in a 31-8 win over Mt. Diablo.



Oakland A's announcer Monte Moore squints as he prepares to putt in Sal Bando Classic.

Sal Bando tourney

Powers, McMurtry tie

Taking advantage of ideal weather conditions, John McMurtry of Danville and Mike Powers of Oakland shot three - under - par 69s to tie for low gross in the third annual Sal Bando Golf Classic on Sunol Valley's Palm Course Monday.

In a toss of the coin, McMurtry was declared the winner and received first prize. Duncan Kilpatrick of Oakland was third with a 76. Low net in the tourney, benefitting United Cerebral Palsy in Alameda and Contra Costa Counties, went to Clyde Emerson of Hayward with a 64.

One stroke behind were San Francisco 49er lineman Bob Hoskins and Burt Dawson, a Concord businessman.

Ed Jelich of Moraga was the blind - bogey winner with a 63, followed by Ken Rude of Hayward, 64, and Stan Sperling of Round Hill, 65.

The special hole - in - one winner was Larry Ferrro, Walnut Creek banker, who placed his shot stopped three feet, four inches short of the flag. Tom McHugh of Oakland was second at 5-4.

John D'Acquisto, the pitcher traded from the San Francisco Giants to the St. Louis Cardinals recently, won the long drive contest with a 310 - yard blast.

Some of the guest celebrities and their scores were: Gene Tenace, 96; Paul Mitchell, 85; D'Acquisto, 81; Ray Rosse, 92; Chris Speier, 83; Hoskins, 92; Ted Kubiak, 85; Monte Moore, 88; Bando, 84, and pop singer Frank Fanelli, 86.

Presentation of awards was made at a dinner following th 18 - hole event, with Doug Sweeney, managing director of UCP, as master of ceremonies.

Vikes' defense tops Martinez, 16-6

The Livermore Vikings kept the Martinez Mustangs scoreless till the final minute of play and came away with a 16-6 Pop Warner footbal win over the weekend.

In other games, the Dublin Squires beat the Concord Broncos, 28-0; the Concord Wranglers blanked the Dublin Lancers, 18-0 and the traditionally tough Concord Pioneers handed the Dublin Knights yet another league defeat, 31-0.

The Vikings' first score came in the second period when Mark Sanches hauled in a 22-yard Jack Trudeau pass for a touchdown. Trudeau booted the extra points.

A reverse to flanker Ted Wittmayer was good for a 42-yard score in the fourth quarter as Trudeau again kicked the points.

Sanches had half the Vikes rushing total, amassing 65 yards and caught three passes for 59 yards. Eight receptions netted Livermore 117 yards for a total offense of 247.

Trudeau led the defense, which held Martinez to just 100 yards, with 13 tackles while Bob Peterson had eight. Doug Jones, Bob Giachello, Roger Ogee and Jesse Velasquez also did well defensively.

The Squires, who held Concord to three first downs and a total of 96 yards rushing, scored first on a six-yard run by Greg Leatherman. John Rasmussen added the point with a pass to Dave Weldon.

Chris Lusvardi was next, tallying on a two-yard sweep. Ken Martin's run provided the extra point.

Lusvardi then threw 34 yards to Doug McNeil for a touchdown and the two-point conversion kick was good. Steve Bustamente kicked the PATs with help from center Rick Staub and holder Craig Lapsley.

Lusvardi scored the final TD on a 45-yard interception return.

Lapsley, Dave Campagna, Rasmussen, Lusvardi, Brett Howell and Leatherman combined for 284 yards rushing. The Squires completed seven of 11 passes for 80 yards.

Jerry Birr and Jeff Nichols led the defense with a combined 20 tackles while Chris Damoulos and Steve King recoverd three fumbles. Steve Pate, Mike Pate, Oliver Gangnuss, Bub Bushey and Les Townsend also did well on defense.

The Wranglers burst for two touchdowns in the final quarter to finish off the Lancers.

Carvacho stars at Modesto

Tricia Carvacho of the Livermore Aquacowboys took four first places in the Modesto Swim Team A-AA meet last weekend.

Tricia, competing in the under-10 division, won the 100-yard freestyle in 1:05.7, the 100-yard breaststroke (1:30.9), the 50-yard butterfly (33.7) and the 100-yard individual medley (1:16.0).

She took a second in the 50-yard backstroke with a club record time of 36.3. She also took seconds in the 200-yard freestyle (2:21.7), 50-yard freestyle (30.6) and was third in the 50-yard breaststroke (42.5).

Pokes top San Ramon

Using superior balance Livermore High School's girls gymnastics team took a 129-61 victory over San Ramon in the losers' gym yesterday in East Bay Athletic League competition.

Livermore won the novice division 49-29 and the intermediates, 43.5-19.5.

San Ramon came back to win the begineers' competition, 5 42.5-36.5.

Sheila Holbrook won three of four events for the Wolves and Wendy Miecheil also took three out of four events.

Despite her team's defeat in the intermediate division, Laura Schwartz won all four events she participated in: the bars, beam, floor exercise and the vaulting competion.

Patsy Richmond of Livermore stood out in the intermediate division and Lisa Shriver did well for the Pokes in the novice class.

Rhonda Champbell of Livermore won three events and tied her other in the novice division against tough competition.

Military reports

LIVERMORE — Two local Navy men recently participated in the largest peacetime training operation ever held in Australia.

Navy Engineman Fireman Apprentice Gary A. Gayle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Gayle of 1257 Tulip Way, and Navy Chief Aviation Fire Control Technician Gerald J. Gustus, whose wife Mary is the daughter of Mrs. Violet Hintz of Livermore, took part in Exercise "Kanoaroo II."

They were part of more than 32,000 sailors, Marines, soldiers and airmen from the U.S., Australia and New Zealand (ANZUS) taking part in the three-week exercise. The tri-nation exercise, involving more than 40 ships and nearly 250 aircraft, is designed to test and evaluate plans for combined ANZUS operations in a simulated combat environment.

"Kangaroo II" is being conducted in the Taxman and Coral Seas and and along the eastern Australian coast. It centers on a major amphibious landing by U.S. forces and a subsequent link-up of the assault units with Australian and New Zealand ground forces for follow on combined land operations.

Gayle, a 1975 graduate of Livermore High School, joined the Navy in September 1975.

Gustus joined the Navy in January 1958.

SAN RAMON — Airman Bruce R. Connor, son of Roland C. Connor of 2443 Camino De Jugar, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force's helicopter mechanic course conducted by the Air Training Command.

Airman Connor is now trained to inspect and perform maintenance on helicopters, and will serve at Tyndall AFB, Fla. Completion of the course enables the airman to receive academic credits through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman is a 1975 graduate of Rogers High School in Washington.

PLEASANTON — Airman John C. Stevenson, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roderick M. Stevenson of 2686 Willowren Way, has been assigned to Whiteman AFB, Mo., after completing Air Force Basic Training.

During the six weeks at Lackland AFB, Tex., the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

Airman Stevenson will serve as a cook. He is a 1976 graduate of Amador Valley High School.

LIVERMORE — Marine Lieutenant Colonel George R. Griggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond R. Griggs of 702 Hayes Ave., recently participated in Exercise Palm Tree 5-76.

Members of the 12th Marine Amphibious Brigade were airlifted from Camp Lejeune, N.C., to the Marine Corps Air-Ground Training Center, Twentynine Palms, Ca., for the two-week exercise.

The purpose of the exercise was to enhance the combat readiness of East Coast-based Marine units. Participating units were confronted with a series of simulated combat situations throughout the live-fire maneuvers, which stressed tactics of the Marine Corps air-ground team.

The mechanized, motorized and artillery forces that composed the brigade, plus the supporting attack aircraft and helicopters, were commanded by Marine Brigadier General F.W. Tief.

Upon conclusion of the exercise, the East Coast Marines were airlifted back to their home bases.

A 1959 graduate of Princeton University, Princeton, N.J., he joined the Marine Corpe in June 1959.

DUBLIN — Kenneth W. Meadows Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Meadows of 6898 Mansfield Ave., recently enlisted in the U.S. Air Force delayed enlistment program.

Meadows will graduate from Dublin High School in January and leave for Air Force basic training on Feb. 15. He will enter the Police Science School upon completion of basic training at Lackland AFB, Texas.

LIVERMORE — Chief Master Sergeant Frank S. Gentile, whose wife Clyda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvain T. Rooney of 1589 Apache St., is taking part in Crested Cap '76 — a North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) exercise in Germany.

Sgt. Gentile is a first sergeant at Holloman AFB, N.M., with the dual-based 49th Tactical Fighter Wing whose units and support personnel deploy to the European continent each year for month-long maneuvers.

F-4 Phantom fighter-bomber aircrews from the 49th are flying simulated combat missions from Hahn Air Base in support of allied forces taking part in the exercise.

The sergeant, a 1954 graduate of Excelsior High School in Norwalk, Ca., attended the University of Arizona.

DUBLIN — Airman First Class Vincent M. Gerard, son of Mrs. Cheryl L. Gerard of 8585 Galindo Drive, has graduated from the Strategic Air Command's combat crew training course at Carswell AFB, Tex.

Airman Gerard, a defensive fire control systems operator, is being assigned to Andersen AFB, Guam, with the 60th Bombardment Squadron.

The airman is a 1976 graduate of Valley High School.

PLEASANTON — Navy Fireman Gregory A. Duncan, son of Mrs. Gloria M. Davis of 4787 Canary Drive, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center in San Diego.

During the eight-week training cycle, he studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic occupational fields.

A 1976 graduate of Amador Valley High School, he joined the Navy in July 1976.

VCSD has new classes for women

DUBLIN — New and improved women's activity programs will be sponsored by the Valley Community Services District at the Camp Parks Gymnasium.

The cost is 50 cents per day. Programs will be held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings from 9:30 to 12:30 beginning Nov. 8.

Women can drop-in and exercise, play volleyball, badminton, basketball and jog. If they have children they are invited to use the child supervision service staffed by VCSD employes.

Another drop-in basketball program will begin Thursday, Nov. 4. It will be held each Tuesday and Thursday evening from 7 — 10 through Nov. 23.

Saturday drop-in basketball will begin Nov. 20, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.. It will include drop-in volleyball.

Co-ed volleyball and badminton will have a program beginning Thursday, Dec. 2 from 7 — 10 p.m. Badminton rackets and shuttlecocks will be available.

For further information contact the recreation department at 828-7711.

What the library has

DUBLIN — The Dublin Public Library, a branch of the Alameda County Library system, offers a wide variety of services to the community.

Besides a warm and friendly staff they provide free library cards and no fines on overdue materials. There is access to a collection of over a million books, paperbacks, magazines, records and films plus interlibrary loans for access to many more.

The checkout period is three weeks for most materials.

Phonograph records for adults, young adults and children are available and 16mm films and 8mm films.

There is a telephone ready reference service, bookmobile and extension services to neighborhoods, rest homes, special institutions and jails.

A special senior outreach service is operated for senior citizens in conjunction with a volunteer program.

Current authoritative data and special services are provided through a business and government library.

The libraries subscribe to 1,000 daily newspapers and magazines.

There is a large Spanish language collection at Union City plus Spanish speaking librarians at many libraries. Other Spanish services include books, games, information and special programs for holidays. The cultural and practical life of the community are also dealt with.

Programs for all ages, including films, speakers, craft demonstrations and storytelling are available along with booklists for all ages on many popular subjects.

There are Friends of the Library groups in many communities.

Dirty heating units blamed in home fires

Dirty, defective heating equipment causes the deadliest home fire, studies by the National Fire Protection Association show. Approximately 1,600 persons lose their lives in such fires each year.

With fall and cooler weather approaching, the fire department urges everyone to rid their home of this potential source of tragedy.

Check and repair all heating equipment in the house and don't overlook the chimney. A clean, tight chimney means fuel savings as well as fire safety.

Make sure that all room heaters, whether built - in or portable, are in first - class operating condition, clean and steady. Get rid of any heaters which could tip over.

Any weakness in your home's heating system is most likely to show up when the system is pushed hard in cold weather. As the outdoor temperatures drop, indoor fire dangers rise, so don't delay in seeing that your heating system is ready for winter.

Food for needy

In a year of high unemployment and rising inflation, demands for emergency food have increased dramatically, says the St. Vincent de Paul Society which will ask Dublin residents for contributions of canned or packaged food this Saturday, Nov. 6. For a second year, children volunteers (such as Alison Barratt, Kathy Barratt and Marianne Pittore) will collect donations between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. from donors like Mrs. Alberta Ramirez. The Society hopes to be able to replenish food supplies it was forced to borrow from the Children's Emergency Council of Dublin this year.

Lab energy costs soar, may exceed $2 million

LIVERMORE — Energy costs at the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory have doubled in the last 36 months despite a drop in consumption, officials report.

Total fuel costs for fiscal year 1976 are expected to hit almost $2.1 million, a 50 per cent increase over 1973 figures. That same energy bill is expected to rise to $3.5 million by 1980.

Lab spokesman say increases in electricity costs result from a cutback in hydroelectric power supplied by the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation. This cheaper source is being replaced by PG & E power, leading to an expected 50 per cent increase in electricity costs this year.

Electricity costs are expected to reach $1.2 million this year, $1.8 million next year, and $2 million in fiscal year 1980.

1976 natural gas costs of $750,000 are projected to climb to $1.1 million in 1977 and then drop to $770,000 in 1980 as other sources are utilized.

The present fuel oil cost of $98,000 will reach $173,000 next year and skyrocket to $630,000 in 1980, experts at the Lab say. Annual propane costs of $20,000 will multiply five-fold next year to $108,000 but then decrease to $70,000 in 1980.

Lab officials add that the increases come despite a drop in consumption of both electricity and natural gas in 1976.

CCC cuts flu clinics as turnouts drop off

Lesher News Bureau

MARTINEZ — County health officials announced a cutback of scheduled mass flu clinics Tuesday because of disappointing turnouts over the weekend.

Dr. William A. Longshore, public health chief, also said the death of a 23 - year - old Pleasant Hill woman at Mt. Diablo Hospital is being scrutinized to determine whether she did die of influenza.

He said she had not had a flu shot and had been under a doctor's care. Longshore said the autopsy results were inconclusive and final determination will have to await the results of more tests. He said the county would know the cause of death in about 10 days.

Longshore said he still believes that California will have a late flu season this year. He added that there was a lot of colds and bronchitis around now but no specific flu diagnosis as yet.

The schedule of the mass flu clinics will be issued tomorrow. The County Health Department was still working on the list of cutbacks this morning.

Longshore said that only 7,700 persons took advantage of the 12 clinics over the weekend. That was a few hundred less than had shots the weekend before.

Ann Landers

Slow merchants raise her ire

Dear Ann Landers: May I join those who get the anger out of their systems by unloading their pet peeves on you? Mine is the "Drop Dead" attitude of many small business people toward their customers and clients.

Within the past week I have experienced the following:

My hairdresser booked me for 9 a.m. I was on time. She arrived 10 minutes late, put on the coffee pot, proceeded to wipe the chairs and shampoo bowls, then made a couple of personal phone calls, oblivious to the fact I was fuming.

A shop across the street from my office advertised a big sale. I used my coffee break to run over to pick up some bargains. There was only one clerk in the place to handle the customers. The phone was ringing off the wall. While I was tapping my foot impatiently, two customers came in and walked out. So did I. The salesperson was too busy answering phone calls to wait on me.

A pretty little gift shop opened near my home. I dropped in yesterday. The young owners had brought their collie dog and angora cat to work. ("Hate to leave them alone all day.") I have a serious allergy to all kinds of animal fibers and had to leave immediately lest the presence of those two hairy creatures bring on an attack.

Am I picky - picky? What do you think? — Judge Me

Dear J.M.: I think you were poorly treated on all counts. I hope the small business people who read this will pay close attention to your complaints. They are valid — and not uncommon these days.

Salad break

Even council members have to find moments to grab a quick snack in their hectic life schedules. As Monday's council meeting came to a close, Councilman Glen Dahlbacka whipped out the cole slaw and began munching away. What, no fork? Two straws served as impromptu chopsticks. Yum!

Skiing buffs invited to organizational group meet

PLEASANTON — People interested in skiing are invited to a meeting at 7:30 p.m. November 10 at the Amador Park recreation building.

If there is adequate interest, a series of Wednesday trips will be arranged beginning January 26 for adults who want to learn skiing or enjoy the hills without the weekend skiers. A series of Saturday trips and a big weekender is also being planned for those 12 years old and older. Program planning will include all transporation and reduced tow ticket rates.

The program November 10 will feature a ski movie and have some equipment information available. Teens are especially encouraged to come because a new Teen Ski Club will be forming.

For more information, get a flyer at the library or the main recreation office, 200 Bernal Ave.

Women's voter league sets property tax panel session

Lesher News Bureau

MARTINEZ — Contra Costa residents will have a chance to confront officials on property tax concerns next week.

The League of Women Voters of Diablo Valley and Richmond have invited several county officials to a panel discussion on property tax assessments Nov. 10.

The panelists include E.F. Wanaka, county assessor; Warren Boggess, county supervisor; James Goodhue, Chairman of the Assessment Appeals Board; and John Knox, State Assemblyman from Richmond.

After the discussion, the meeting will be thrown open to questions from the audience on any aspect of property taxes.

The meeting, which will be held 9:30 a.m. at the Civic Arts Theater in Walnut Creek, is an outgrowth of a two-year study currently being conducted by the California League of Women Voters on assessment practices and the role of property taxes.

Seniors meet in Pleasanton

PLEASANTON — The Pleasanton Senior VIP Club will conduct its monthly meeting at noon, November 8, at the Veterans' Building.

Club officers will be honored with entertainment provided by the senior dance group of Mary Koze. Refreshments will be salads and tea or coffee.
